

The “Twist of Fate” Course-Correction Spread

To keep the math simple, reversals are not used in the “trajectory” line. The eight “intervention” positions are calculated by addition or subtraction as shown to produce a trump card; the court cards are to be treated as 11 through 14 for this step. Subtracting to zero will yield the Fool and a negative number will result in a reversed trump. The nature of the calculated trump is blended with the positional meaning to create a composite impression that can be compared with the opposite combo to determine which influence prevails, positive or negative, at each turn. The “adjustment” events show the need to rethink or redirect one's trajectory to account for dominant intervention of either type.
